Shortly afterward he accepted control of the Pertland Advertiser. 1835 he was elected to the legislature and ed there four years. At the beginning of his last term of two years, was chosen speaker and pre-formed the duties of that office to the satisfaction of that body. In 1862 he was elected to Congress. He was repeatedly re-clected from the same district, and in 1860 was made Speaker of the House. His rulings were always prompt and accurate, and it was not often that his bitterest enemies could find a flaw in his par-liamentary armor. When General Garfield was effected President after the memorable struggle in the convention of 1800, he ten-dered Mr. Blaine the position of Secretary of State. He retired from the Cabinet shortly after President Arthur's accession. John A. Logan, Nominee for Vice-President.

John A. Logan, nominee for Vice-President, was born in Jackson County, Ill., February 9, 1825. He has been prominently before the country since early manhood. He served as a Lieutenant in the Mexican War and during the late War of the Rebellion served as a General of volunteers with marked distinction. He has filled many im-portant public offices, and is at present one of the United States Senators from Illinois

Vomiting Babies.

There is an absurd idea that a vomiting babe is therefore healthy. It is fortunate, perhaps, that such, when fed, as too many are, with various indigestible articles, can so easily throw off such objectionable food; yet it would be still more fortunate if mothers were more judicieus and would not use such food. The vomiting is simply to rid the stomach of offending matter, this being the easiest and safest means of disposing of such indigestible food. It is also true that the mother's milk when she is excited, or, still worse, is in anger, or cited, or, still worse, is in anger, or when she has used improper food, may not agree with the little stomach, that stomach preferring nothing at all to such milk, which then is thrown off as a such milk, which then is thrown off as a means of avoiding unfavorable results.

Or it may be true that when the babe is very thirsty, or unusually hupery, more very thirsty, or unusually hupery, more is taken than can be easily dist the only safe means being its ejec At this time the vemiting is easil fected, not materially injuring the child, though it would be better not to impose this extra labor, giving only what is needed, remembering the small size of the stomach at birth, holdfected, not materially ing about a wine-glass full. But when the food is improper; or the mother's milk has been made unfit for the stomach, the vomiting is the result of sickness, and then it is not as easy a
